

Urgent Matter

From November 28, 2011, Kenneth White (aka Popehat) via email harassed an individual by the name of Marc Stephens. Kenneth also tried to locate this individual by using an unidentified person on Twitter, as seen below. After harassing Stephens, ironically Mr. White published an article claiming he was threatened by Stephens. Mr. White does not know the entire story between the cancer clinic and Rhys Morgan. Yet he harassed Stephens. See below.

CODE OF ETHICS. It is inappropriate for a California attorney to conduct himself in this manner. Also, what Mr. White does not realize is that the Santa Monica, California address he has investigated, and currently posted online, is owned by a United States Honorable Judge. Posting this information online could potentially increase the danger of physical violence.

Mr. White also admits to ownership of the twitter account, and the website www.popehat.com in his article "Tell Me About The Rabbit – Marc Stephens", which is attached.

@Popehat Looks right. I saw a few more, but I don't trust my source's accuracy and don't have a permissible purpose to pull more data, alas.

This morning I awoke to a friendly note from Marc Stephens — using the same email address he has when threatening other bloggers, the same address I used to seek comment from him before posting. The note contained what I would characterize as a decent effort, given his apparent abilities, to intimidate me. He sent it to my Popehat address and to my real-world big-boy-pants Ken's-sekrit-identity law firm address.

Celebrated South Florida artist Jose Alvarez accused of identity theft

September 09, 2011 | By Peter Franceschina and Jon Burstein, Sun Sentinel

Celebrated Plantation artist Jose Luis Alvarez has earned an international reputation with colorful, modernist paintings that have been showcased in South Florida museums and galleries.

He's always dabbled in abstract concepts involving personal and artistic identity, an exploration that began as a young man when he teamed with famed magician James "The Amazing" Randi on the world stage.

Does Mr. White support this type of conduct?

On November 3, Rhys Morgan harassed a Cancer Clinic in Houston Texas via his twitter account and website. A representative of the Clinic forwarded a cease and desist letter, and the online threats from an organization called Skeptic Society went rampant. The clinic had to increase security. Rhys Morgan failed to show the public his verbal attacks on the clinic, and its patients, which are below.

Morgan Deleted his comments, but a representative and cancer patients captured most. All of the twitter comments / map were forwarded to Rhys Morgan by Burzynski's Representative. His website was shut down as well.

Below this is the tweet text: "@BurzynskiClinic if you ever designed a trial that would provide results, perhaps. Until then, they're still anecdotes." Below the text is a map of the Cardiff, Wales area. The map shows several locations marked with black dots: Talbot, Caerphilly, Cardiff, Caerau, Penarth, Barry, Newport, and Cwmbran. A blue line is drawn across the map, connecting several of these locations. At the bottom right of the map is the text "14 hours ago via Twitter for iPhone".
